

Example of Web Application Development by Oracle Application Express (Apex)

Oracle Application Express (Apex) can be used for web application development. If you have downloaded XE you can work with it on your laptop hosting XE Oracle. Another way of using Apex is creating a workspace by requesting it from Oracle (in fact we use Oracle and Apex on the cloud). Below is a Web application sample, a db system that shows users borrow books or items. You can see the available books and items and borrowed items in their related tables from a web page shown below for each user when you enter the Username: user or user1 or user2 or user3 to login to the system.
